BST RECEIVES $150,000 DONATION FROM THE THOMAS AND CINDY MASSIE FOUNDATION

The Thomas and Cindy Massie Foundation generously donated $150,000 to the Beringia Settlement Trust (BST) Scholarship Program. The BST Scholarship Program received an overwhelming number of qualified applicants for the next scholarship period and this donation will aid BST in providing scholarship support to students.

“Cindy and Tom have demonstrated exceptional devotion to the advancement of BSNC’s shareholders and descendants through their foundation’s philanthropic efforts,” said BSNC President & CEO Gail R. Schubert. “Their support is tremendously appreciated.”

“The Massie Foundation has provided invaluable support for the shareholders and descendants of the Corporation, for which we are

AIH PURCHASES VACANT WAREHOUSE FOR RETAIL STOREFRONT

Alaska Industrial Hardware (AIH) has purchased the vacant warehouse building – formerly Sam’s Club – located on Dimond Blvd. In addition to an expanded retail storefront opening spring 2021, this space will also serve as Alaska’s largest hardware and safety order fulfillment/replenishment center, capable of supplying high-quality equipment, tools, industrial materials, maintenance supplies and safety products to individual Alaskans, the construction industry, government and commercial customers.

AIH is a wholly owned subsidiary of Bering Straits Native Corporation (BSNC). BSNC acquired the Alaska-grown company in August of 2015, and the purchase of a larger warehouse supports future expansion as AIH continues to evolve and grow.

“BSNC and AIH share a vision to grow solutions, products and services for construction and hardware customers,” said BSNC President & CEO Gail R. Schubert. “AIH has grown its solid reputation by providing quality customer service and competitive prices. AIH’s commitment to BSNC’s mission, as well as its operational revenue, helps provide increased shareholder opportunities and benefits.”

Dear Shareholders,

Longer periods of daylight have thankfully returned to the Arctic and soon Spring will be upon us. As our people have done each Spring for hundreds of years, many will venture out to replenish food supplies with harvests of migratory birds, caribou, reindeer and sea mammals.

Subsistence defines a major part of who we are as Arctic peoples, and I am proud to see photos submitted in BSNC’s Annual Photo Contest of the younger generation continuing our traditional ways of life. We are always happy to include photos that repeat the cycles of our lives as Arctic subsistence-based people. Please be sure to send your photos in to media@beringstraits.com by April 30 to qualify for prizes and awards. BSNC uses shareholder-submitted photos in our newsletters, proposals, website and presentations.

The year 2020 was very challenging for many, but I am optimistic about our path ahead in 2021, particularly as the COVID-19 vaccine becomes widely available in Alaska. I want to share my own reasons why I received the COVID-19 vaccine. Of all the decisions I made this year, it was the easiest one. I decided to get vaccinated for my health and the health of my family and community. I understand that some people may be apprehensive about getting vaccinated. I know that the thought of these COVID vaccines for some is scary. I chose to get vaccinated because scientific research shows that the vaccines are safe and will serve to protect me and those around me. I encourage you to get the COVID-19 vaccine when it becomes available to you.

COVID-19 vaccination is a necessary step toward ending the pandemic. The health and safety of BSNC employees, shareholders and the communities in which we work and live remains BSNC’s top priority. Therefore, the BSNC Board of Directors took the strong step of mandating that all employees be vaccinated against COVID-19 once the vaccine is available. I applaud the BSNC Board of Directors for making this ground-breaking decision. Many other Alaska Native Corporations (ANCs) are considering this mandate.

I have become concerned about the future of Alaska Native Corporation Settlement Act (ANCSA) section 7(i) and 7(j) resource development revenue-sharing requirements. Instead, Sealaska elected to engage in operations that emit carbon into the atmosphere. BSNC and other regional corporations are currently challenging Sealaska’s position that the carbon credits it received from the sale of its timber harvesting rights are not subject to ANCSA 7(i) revenue sharing.

Many of you know that the CARES Act which Congress passed last year contained a provision which allocated $8 billion to Indian Tribes. We believe the definition of Indian Tribes was clearly intended to include ANCs. Distribution of those funds is based not on the number of original enrollees in each ANCSA corporation, but on a formula that uses NAHASDA-eligible Natives currently living in each of the regional corporation areas. A lawsuit was filed by several tribes asserting that ANCSA corporations are not eligible to share in the receipt of the CARES Act funds, I note that, under the formula used, BSNC is scheduled to receive the minimum distribution under the law if we are successful in our efforts defending the right for ANCs to receive the distribution. More importantly, the definition used for the CARES Act fund allocation is the same definition we use to qualify for numerous other federal programs and to engage in government contract work. Therefore, we have considerable stake in the outcome of the lawsuit.

The U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to hear the ANCSA Regional Association and Alaska Native Village Corporation Association case on the litigation related to CARES Act funds for ANCs and their respective shareholders and descendants. Alaska Native people and Alaska Native communities continue to suffer disproportionately from the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic. As ANCSA intended, ANCs support our Alaska Native shareholders economically, culturally and socially. ANCs accordingly perform a wide range of functions that would ordinarily be performed by tribal governments.

ANCs have spent considerable funds from their own operations to assist with the COVID-19 response. BSNC deployed $2.1 million in direct financial assistance to its shareholders by declaring special dividends in March to shareholders for COVID-19 relief, including a special emergency dividend distribution of $3.00 per share, and a special emergency Eider dividend distribution of $250. If ANCs are left out of the CARES Act Tribal Relief Funding, Alaska Native people will be underrepresented in terms of financial aid intended to protect Alaska’s rural communities from COVID-19, and to help repair our economies. We look forward to a resolution on this matter and will update BSNC shareholders once a ruling is announced.

As a precautionary measure in response to the COVID-19 pandemic, BSNC’s Nome and Anchorage offices continue to remain closed to visitors until further notice. Shareholders may contact BSNC’s Shareholder Department via phone, email and MyBSNC. The Shareholder Department can be reached toll-free at 1-800-478-5079 or by email at shareholders@beringstraits.com.

Finally, I am deeply saddened to share that my longtime friend and former BSNB Board Member Louise L. Avessuk (Keller) Bauman passed away in February. Louise was proud to have served on BSNC’s Board of Directors for 15 years. She was a friend, mentor and inspiration to many. I will forever remember Louise for her strong values, kindness, determination and incredible work ethic. On behalf of BSNC’s Board of Directors, I express our sincere condolences to Louise’s loved ones.

In closing, we remain steadfast in our mission to improve the quality of life of Our People through economic development while protecting our land and preserving our culture and heritage. Quyanna for your continued support and involvement in your Corporation.

NAME OF VILLAGE:
BSNC HOSTS WELLNESS DISCUSSION WITH NICK HANSON

BSNC hosted two live online events about the importance of mental health and self-care with NBC’s American Ninja Warrior competitor Nick Hanson, also known as the Eskimo Ninja. Hanson, a BSNC descendant from Unalakleet, made a name for himself as the first Inuit to compete on the American Ninja Warrior (ANW).

Rural Alaska is associated with a devastating statistic - the highest suicide rate per capita in the U.S. Suicide comes no stranger to Hanson. After losing 11 of his high school basketball teammates/classmates to alcohol related suicides - Hanson was pushed to the edge, literally, nearly ending his own life in 2014. But an 8th grader changed his heart when he suggested that Hanson use his athletic ability to tryout for American Ninja Warrior.

Using the platform ANW has provided, Hanson travels the country to share his story of overcoming adversity and loss. As a coach and mentor, Nick strives to be a positive role model for the youth of rural Alaska and beyond. He chose at a young age to never consume alcohol, smoke, or do drugs after witnessing the devastation it caused in his and his peers’ families. Today he is inspiring people, young and old, to overcome the obstacles in their own lives. You can learn more about Hanson and his motivational speaking at: theeskimoninja.com.

BSNC DESCENDANT REGISTRY

The BSNC descendant registry is for a lineal descendant or adoptee of a BSNC shareholder. Lineal descendants (e.g., child, grandchild, great-grandchild, etc.) and adoptees of shareholders need to register. Descendants who are already BSNC shareholders do not need to register.

How to Register

To register, descendants must submit a completed registration form and a copy of the state-issued birth certificate or adoption decree establishing the relationship to a BSNC shareholder. If the descendant’s name differs from the name on the birth certificate, or if the shareholder’s name on the descendant’s birth certificate is different from the name BSNC has on file, copies of the legal document(s) substantiating the name change are also required (e.g., a marriage certificate, divorce decree, adoption decree or other legal document). In some cases, it may be necessary to provide additional documents to demonstrate lineal descent. For more information and the descendant form, go to www.beringstraits.com/descendants.

CAREER PATHWAYS SERIES – JOURNALISM: LAURELI IVANOFF

BSNC is publishing a career pathways series to help showcase jobs held by successful shareholders and descendants. This series aims to raise awareness of these career options and the essential skills needed to succeed in these positions.

BSNC shareholder Laureli Ivanoff is a renowned, award-winning writer currently working and living full time in Unalakleet, Alaska, where she grew up.

She currently serves as Communications Director for Norton Sound Economic Development Corporation. She is also a freelance writer, most recently writing and producing a radio program called Sikullautaq for Norton Sound Health Corporation which covered important topics regarding COVID-19. Previously, Ivanoff served as News Director for KNOM Radio Station.

Ivanoff earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Journalism from the University of Alaska Fairbanks. Ivanoff’s work has been featured in many publications, including the New York Times. Ivanoff is an awardee of the Alaska Governor’s Arts & Humanities Award, Alaska Press Club Award in the Best Column category and many more honors in radio broadcasting.

“Journalism takes you places. Working as a reporter is exhilarating while also providing important services to the public.”

What kinds of skills or traits are key for success in journalism?
Laureli Ivanoff: “Dedication to your audience and listeners. I know my listeners deserve truth and I work hard every day to bring it to them. Tenacity. People will tell you no, but again, your listeners deserve the truth, so you work hard to get it. You must learn how to be pushy with some people, but for someone who was raised to always be polite, that part was really kind of fun. Curiosity. A bulk of your job is asking questions and compiling information. Never stop being curious. And finally, know you have the right to be in that space.”

What resources did you utilize to earn your degree?
Laureli Ivanoff: “I utilized all regional scholarships and the Anchorage Daily News scholarship. My family, including my children Joe and Sidney, were also a big resource/support as they relocated to Fairbanks with me for a year so I could take journalism classes. They had to listen to me take classes via audioconference while they did their homework after school.”

What were some of your largest barriers or challenges in your career?
Laureli Ivanoff: “Growing up, I didn’t know any Alaska Native journalists or writers, I often dealt with the “imposter syndrome” many Indigenous people experience. Even when I was working with the editor from The New York Times, I felt like a fraud. But no, I belong here. I am a writer. Take up that space. Use your voice. The world needs it.”

What advice would you give to young Alaska Native people interested in pursuing a career in journalism?
Laureli Ivanoff: “Locate the instructors in your department who are experienced and invested in your growth and learn all you can from them. Once you have completed school, find a station or newsroom that is doing important work that is respected and do the work. Every day. It is how you get better. Journalism takes you places. Working as a reporter is exhilarating while also providing important services to the public. If you are curious, become a reporter. If you are a truth seeker, become a reporter. If you want to travel and understand the workings of the world, become a reporter. We need you in newsrooms throughout Alaska badly to include your indigenous lens.”

ALL IT TAKES IS ONE SHARE TO BECOME A SHAREHOLDER!

Under the 1991 Amendments to the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (43 U.S.C. 1601 et. seq.), shareholders may give stock to a person who is their child, grandchild, greatgrandchild, niece, nephew, brother or sister and who also is a Native or descendant of a Native. H.R. 3157 “The Alaska Land Status Technical Corrections Act of 1992,” allows for gift of stock to siblings. The law defines a Native as a person who is their child, grandchild, greatgrandchild, niece, nephew, brother or sister and who also is a Native or descendant of a Native. H.R. 3157 “The Alaska Land Status Technical Corrections Act of 1992,” allows for gift of stock to siblings. The law defines a Native as a person who is at least one-fourth degree Alaska Indian, Eskimo, Aleut blood, or any combination; a descendant of a Native is a lineal descendant (child, grandchild, greatgrandchild, etc.) of a Native or an adoptee of a Native or descendant of a Native who is adopted before the age of 18.

Once your gift is completed on the corporate books, the recipient of your shares will own and have all the stock rights for those shares, including the right to vote the shares at the shareholder meetings, to receive dividends and distributions on the shares, to bequeath the shares upon death, or to give the shares to a relative. Once gifting is completed, you will have no rights with respect to the shares you gave away.

AIH PURCHASES VACANT WAREHOUSE

“We are pleased to establish our new headquarters in this busy and high-traffic major retail district in south Anchorage,” said AIH President & CEO Terry Shurtleff. “Our business has demonstrated resilience through the current recession and now the global pandemic with the support of our loyal customers. We are excited to continue to serve our community with high-quality service and support. AIH is an Alaskan company, employing Alaskans, with all profits staying in Alaska.”

The new retail storefront, order fulfillment and replenishment center is a positive investment in the Anchorage economy. AIH currently employs approximately 180 Alaskans and upon completion of the new location, will seek to expand its team by hiring an additional 20 to 25 people. AIH continues to invest in Alaska by maintaining $20 million dollars’ worth of on-hand inventory, strategically located throughout Alaska’s communities to support its customers.

Terry Shurtleff, AIH President & CEO
BSNC is helping prepare tomorrow’s leaders for the workforce by providing paid internships and professional development training each summer to qualified shareholder or descendant students enrolled in college or technical school. HISTORICAL SPOTLIGHT: SHAKTOOLIK ARCHAEOLOGY PROJECT

The Shaktoolik Archaeology Project is an ongoing multiyear investigation of the archaeological record near the Native Village of Shaktoolik, undertaken by personnel and students of the University of California, Davis (UC Davis), in coordination with Shaktoolik Native Corporation. One study revealed that the inhabitants of this area developed sophisticated maritime practices as early as 500 BC and lived in the area year-round utilizing intricate netting for their subsistence practices.

There are many archaeological sites of significance around Shaktoolik. The Shaktoolik Archaeology Project has studied several of them and found artifacts including tools, decorative pieces, trade beads and various other items made from wood, bone, ivory and stone.

Difchahak (or Tivcaraq) is one of the largest historical coastal village sites ever recorded, with well more than 170 house depressions. The square-shaped semi-subterranean houses were large, with some being more than 30 feet long. Remnants of some house depressions can even be seen from the air. Historical residents of Difchahak subsisted on seasonally available species, including salmon, mussels, saffron cod, ptarmigan, ducks, geese and seal.

The Shaktoolik Archaeology Project hired local interns, including Chantelle Nakarak, Sheri Nakarak, Desiree Rock, Levi Sagoonick, Ashley Sookiayak and researcher Kelly Eldridge.

Tom and Cindy Massie present BSNC President & CEO Gail R. Schubert with a $150,000 donation to the BST Scholarship Program.

extremely grateful,” said Shareholder Development Director Lucille Sands. “This funding translates directly into the development of future professionals, including teachers, doctors, lawyers, pilots, nurses and corporate leaders, among many other valuable professions and trades. This donation supports our efforts to improve the quality of life of our people by empowering them with valuable tools to strengthen and enhance their future opportunities. Many thanks are extended to the Massie Foundation.”

Cindy and Tom created The Thomas and Cindy Massie Foundation in 2004. Over the years, the Massies have generously supported the Bering Straits Foundation and many Alaska nonprofits and organizations, including the Covenant Youth of Alaska, the UAA Music program, the Nome Fine Arts Club and the Unalakleet Elders Assisted Living Facility. In 2018, Massie and her husband Tom were awarded the Alaska Federation of Natives Small Business Award for their generous philanthropic efforts advancing causes in Alaska. Cindy Massie, of Unalakleet, is the daughter of the late Clarence and Guerie Towarak.

BSNC mourns the passing of shareholder Louise L. Avessuk (Keller) Bauman of Nome, Alaska. Louise was proud to have served on BSNC’s Board of Directors for 15 years, actively involved from 1994 to 2009. She also served several years on the Board of Directors for Sitnasuak Native Corporation. She loved our land and enjoyed spending time at her camp in Nuuk.

Louise was born on Oct. 4, 1956 to Martha and Lester Keller, Sr., the fourth of six children. Louise was a lifelong learner and always paid attention to socio-economic matters. As a single mother to Eda, in the 1980s Louise proved her strong will, earning a Bachelor of Arts degree in Physical Education from the University of Alaska Fairbanks (UAF). She worked very hard to earn her education and she was amazingly capable with her intelligent and strong-willed spirit.

Louise was truly a go-getter, an improviser and had an entrepreneurial spirit. Later in life, she made the Honor Roll and earned more degrees through UAF, including an Associate Degree in Applied Business Finance as well as taking CNA classes. At the graduation ceremony in 2017, Louise gave encouraging advice to her children: “If you are capable, then that is what I expect from you.” She stayed active in civic engagement and was never afraid to speak her mind.

In addition to spending time at camp, Louise loved to keep herself busy with sewing, baking and crafting. She was a choir member at Our Savior’s Lutheran Church. She was a wonderful Ahkie to her grandsons. Most of all, Louise loved and was very proud of her four children, always speaking highly of their abilities and accomplishments.

Louise is preceded in death by her parents Martha and Lester Keller, her sister Mary Miller and her brother Larry Keller. She is survived by her children Eda (Frank), Seraphin, Lucas, Rachael (Perry) and grandchildren Michael, Daniel and Remington. She is also survived by her siblings Lester “Bossick” Keller, Jr., William “Boyboy” Keller, and Wanda “Asta” (Tom) Keller and Grace Minix.

The BSNC Board of Directors, management and family of companies express sincere condolences to Louise’s loved ones.
BSNC joins Conquer COVID Coalition

BSNC President & CEO Gail R. Schubert co-chairs the Conquer COVID Coalition, an Alaskan effort comprised of businesses, health care organizations, Alaska Native organizations, community leaders and everyday people working side-by-side to defeat the pandemic.

The sooner we come together and achieve this goal, the sooner we can fully open our economies, our schools and our way of life. For the latest news and information about COVID-19 in Alaska, visit conquercovidak.com.

We encourage you to receive the COVID-19 vaccination. The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention’s VaccineFinder website (https://vaccinefinder.org/) helps the public search for provider locations offering vaccination near them. Simply choose your state/territory from the drop-down menu on the right-hand side of the page.

Ashley Sookiayak and Alyson Takak. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the UC Davis group was unable to return to Shaktoolik in 2020 but looks forward to continuing the project once travel can be safely resumed.
