ELDERS OF THE YEAR

At the Bering Straits Native Corporation Annual Meeting of November 3, 1990 held in Shishmaref, the following four Elders were selected as "ELDER OF THE YEAR" for all their accomplishments in maintaining our traditional lifestyle and determination to share their valuable knowledge with our youth in preserving our culture and heritage of the Bering Straits region.

AGNES AMAROK OF GOLOVIN

Agnes was nominated by the City of Golovin for her warmth and sharing of her home and food to everyone all year round. She is known as "Mom", "Grandmother" and "Auntie Agnes" to everyone. Agnes makes our cultural activities a fun and learning experience. She warmly welcomes all ages of youth to experience the traditional camping livelihood, such as the gathering of salmon, cutting and preparing the fish for the winter; and her expertise in knowing when and where to gather and prepare local greens and berries for winter storage.

Although widowed, she provided a secure and caring home for all her children and grandchildren. One of her many great strengths is her ability to hold her family together by providing peace, humbleness, and an equal love for everyone.

Lucy has helped the village by being a Midwife for half a century and a Medical Aide for more than twenty years.

She has preserved one of our Native traditions by giving all she has, prepared her family's life by teaching the art of subsistence life style and has a ready and wonderful smile for everyone. Lucy skin sews traditional clothes and other traditional home items and she understands the importance of gathering, preparing and storing of our traditional Native food.

A part of our tradition is to give all you have, prepare your family's use of traditional methods in teaching the art of subsistence lifestyle and have a ready and wonderful smile for everyone, which is why the residents of White Mountain have selected Lucy Lincoln as the Elder of the Year.

MARGARET SEEGANNA

The Kawerak Elders' Advisory Committee has nominated Margaret Seeganna for meeting the criteria of preserving our culture and teaching our youth about our heritage and lifestyle.

Margaret's family was from Big Diomedes but Margaret was orphaned, grew up at the Pilgrim Springs Mission, married Louis Seeganna and spent most of her adult life on King Island.

Margaret has been active in education and taught Inupiaq language and culture at the Nome Elementary School; was a field worker for the Eskimo Heritage Program at Kawerak, Inc., collecting, transcribing, and translating oral narratives which dealt with the culture, heritage and lifestyle of Native people in this area.

Her co-workers at Kawerak stated that Margaret contributed much to the school here in Nome as a lay instructor and substitute bilingual teacher. She is a highly trained elder, determined to share her knowledge, and demonstrating the highest of professionalism in her work. Examples of her knowledge and writing skill are contained in the book King Island Tales, published in 1988 and including numerous historical accounts and legends collected, transcribed, and translated by Margaret.

Margaret has been a full participant in planning for and being a part of the annual Bering Straits Elders' Conferences and has been outspoken on issues or matters of concern.

It is with a deep sense of respect and appreciation that her fellow elders nominate Margaret Seeganna for the Elder of the Year.

CLARA SOOKIAYAK

Clara Sookiayak was nominated by the Shaktoolik Native Corporation for her valuable contribution for preserving our culture and heritage.

Clara Elizabeth Takak Sookiayak was born to Willie Takak and Hilda Nassuk Takak of Shaktoolik on April 1, 1930 at Issac's Point, Alaska. The oldest of nine children, Clara learned the responsibilities of raising a family often helping her mother.

She married Alex Sookiayak, together they raised seven children. Clara was hired by the Bering Straits School District as a Bilingual-Bicultural Aide since its conception in 1980.

She has contributed to the preserving of our cultural heritage and has taught the students of Shaktoolik schools the tradition of hand sewn garments. She taught the students to make a rabbit skin parka, fur hats, seal skin mittens, seal skin slippers and Eskimo yo-yos, using the "hands on" approach. They also made bead jewelry. Many of the students in both elementary and high school are learning the Inupiaq language. Before the Inupiaq language was taught, the children of Shaktoolik had no practical knowledge of our culture. She is respected by all the students. She had earned the deserving Eskimo title of "Aanna", meaning Grandmother.

VILLAGE LAND PLANNERS MEETING

On August 29, 1990, BSNC sponsored a Village Land Planners meeting to discuss and distribute a 7 (i) Trust Accounting Procedures Manual to help assist the thirteen participating village corporations with their 7 (i) trust obligations.

The background of this meeting stems from ANCSA Section 7 (i), the 1982 7 (i) Settlement Agreement between Alaska's twelve regional corporations, and the 1989 7 (i) trust agreement. The 1989 7 (i) trust agreement was a result of BSNC's bankruptcy. In this agreement, 13 village corporations received control of the subsurface estate to some or all of their lands in lieu of debt owed by BSNC. Council, Inalik, Sitnasuak, and Solomon did not receive any subsurface estate on their lands.

Due to the 1989 7 (i) trust agreement, the participating village corporations have an obligation by law to distribute 70% of the revenues generated through development of their subsurface estate, which is distributed to the 12 regional corporations.

Mark Huber of Peat, Marwick accounting firm gave a presentation on the details of the 7 (i) trust accounting procedures manual and answered questions by participating village land managers.

Dr. Donald Stevens, President of Steven's Exploration Management Corporation, who is the Trustee of the 7 (i) trust agreement, gave an overall synopsis of the trust fund, emphasized the need for reporting requirements, and also answered questions by participating land managers.

The next Village Land Planners meeting to be sponsored by BSNC was held November 30, 1990.

Village corporations are urged to send in agenda items to be addressed at the next meeting.

Participants in attendance in Nome for this meeting were:

ALASKA'S RED RIBBON ESSAY CONTEST

Winners of the Red Ribbon essay contest were Reagan Grandy of Petersburg and Virginia Janis of Anchorage.

Although neither of these students are from the Bering Straits Native Corporation, they both had award winning essays on choices of remaining drug and alcohol free.

The following paragraphs are excerpts taken from the essay of Reagan Grandy, which is very important information teenagers need to be aware of and think seriously about before becoming involved with drugs and alcohol.

"Some teenagers today think it's fun to 'party', where alcohol and drugs are plentiful and encouraged. It has never made any sense to me that my peers have allowed themselves to be lured into a false sense of security and power by becoming partakers of drugs. In reality, they are losing power and control over their minds and bodies. To illustrate the loss of power and control, I relate the following incident.

A young college student was arrested and convicted for using a controlled substance which is a felony. The judge gave him probation. Since the penalty seemed light, the young man turned to his lawyer and asked, "What did I lose?" The lawyer looked at him and replied, "You have lost the right to vote, the right to run for public office, and the right to own a gun."

The lawyer further stated, "You have lost the opportunity of ever being a licensed doctor, dentist, lawyer, engineer, realtor, architect, private therapist, school teacher, or funeral director. You can never get a job where you have to be bonded or licensed. You can't work for the city, county, state or Federal government. You can enlist in the military service, but you will not have a choice of service and will probably be assigned to a labor battalion. Those are examples of what you really lost." It's an incredibly high price to pay!

A recently compiled study compares teenage drug users in Alaska to the U.S. The study concludes that Alaska's teens have a significantly higher drug use rate than those from the 49 states.

NATIVE PROGRAMS AT NOME PUBLIC SCHOOLS

A Public Forum was held October 4, 1990 at the Nome Elementary School Library to solicit ideas and comments from the public to improve the services and programs presently provided through the Johnson-O'Malley, Indian Education, Migrant Education and Bilingual Education programs.

Currently Native programs offer Native language classes for kindergarten through third grade as an after school activity. Tutoring services are provided during and after school and up to fifty percent of the tutoring services will be provided in the classroom this year. This past summer, with funding from the Migrant Education Program, summer school at Cape Wooley Lagoon campsite was held. The program was a tremendous success. Our goal is to continue the summer school program and possibly expand to other large campsites.

Bilingual/Bicultural Program Instructors teach Inupiaq and Siberian Yupik classes to 5th and 6th graders; cultural classes into regular classroom instruction for K-4 grades; adopt new students into school districts to assist them to make an easier transition to Elementary; tutors Bilingual students at Nome Beltz High School in reading and English; and assist students with language interference problems (students who speak little or no English or who speak non-standard English).

Migrant Education Programs provides tutors at the Elementary and High School as well as the Alternate Correspondence Schools; provides a Home School Coordinator to work on improving attendance, refers students to counselors and social workers, and acts as the liaison between the parent and school.

Indian Education Program provides tutors at Nome Beltz High and Alternate Correspondence schools; Native lay instructors for grades K-12; Native arts and crafts offered as an elective for grades 7-12 and after school activities in cooperation with Community

BSNC ANNOUNCES A JOB BANK INFORMATION SYSTEM

Bering Straits Native Corporation, in cooperation with Don Smith, Executive Director of the Bering Straits Economic Council, is in the process of creating a Job Bank Information System.

The goal of this system is to gain employment information about our shareholders so that we can assist them in finding employment. With the increased activity of our Land and Resource Department in marketing BSNC's huge mineral potential, the possibility for future shareholder jobs with BSNC and its subcontractors are outstanding.

We are asking all our shareholders to become involved in this system. On the following page of this newsletter is a "Human Resource Inventory System", questionnaire. We would like all of our shareholders that are interested in employment assistance to please fill out this questionnaire. The questionnaire can be folded and taped and returned to us (the questionnaire is pre-addressed and stamped for you). This questionnaire will be used as a first step in the process of creating a Job Bank Information System. Once we have received responses from the enclosed form, we will be contacting you by letter or phone to obtain further information. The initial responses we obtain from this newsletter will provide us with some data from which to work with. It will also give us an idea of whether or not our shareholders are interested in employment assistance through BSNC.

Elections were held, Honorable Bob Foote, Mayor, City of Unalakleet was elected President; Honorable Jonah Tokienna, Mayor of Wales, elected Secretary; and Honorable Reggie Cleveland, Mayor of Buckland, elected Treasurer.

Bertha Adsuna, Nome Elder, was honored and recognized for her dedication and involvement with the many organizations within the City of Nome. She currently serves on the State Board of Older Alaskans Commissions, and the Nome Library/Museum Commission.

Keynote speaker, Senator Al Adams addressed several concerns of the people; investigate alternatives for decreasing the cost of living for the rural areas, economic development, determine if schools in each village are necessary, prevention programs for drug and alcohol problems, rural roads, subsistence issues and the need for Natives to get out to vote in the elections.

Preventative Health care panel discussions were held as well as discussions on Safe Water. Legislative reports from Senator Al Adams, Representative Eileen McLean and Representative Richard Foster were presented and winding up the conference were discussions on various options for economic development for our villages.

The conference concluded with a Potluck and Eskimo dancing following the potluck, which included the St. Lawrence Island (Nome) Dancers and the King Island Dancers.

WESTGOLD CLOSES OFFSHORE GOLD MINING OPERATION

On September 19, 1990, Western Gold Exploration and Mining Company, Limited Partnership (WestGold) announced plans to close permanently operations of its offshore gold mining vessel, the "BIMA" in Nome, Alaska at the end of its current season, which is expected to occur by November.

WestGold Managing Director, Dr. J. Blair Hawkins said the company "reluctantly decided to end operations due to low gold prices and persistent losses from the operation." Gold prices had reached $490 per ounce in 1987 during the vessel's first full year of production, he noted.

Mr. Cliff Nelson, WestGold Alaska Operation Manager, stated that most hourly seasonal workers and 19 salaried employees in Alaska will be affected by the shutdown. A small staff will remain in Nome until the mining operation has been environmentally secured.

A total of 30 Nome and BSNC shareholders have lost seasonal positions with the closure of the "BIMA". The Department of Community & Regional Affairs are implementing plans to provide those people with re-training or upgrading of their skills through the Dislocated Workers Program. Because of the tremendous numbers of workers affected by the closure, all those laid off will be eligible for upgrading their skills or re-training programs.

COMMUNITY AWARENESS CONFERENCE

Bering Sea Women's Group of Nome hosted the conference "Community Awareness" October 29-31, 1990 at the Mini Convention Center.

The three day conference, whose theme was focused on "Ending Violence", involved a report from the Alaska State Troopers on "Effects on Domestic Violence seen by Law Enforcement."

Keynote speaker, Barbara Miklos, Executive Director, Department of Public Safety for the Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault, presented two workshops on "Effects on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault - Everyone Suffers."

After the second day of the conference, the "Soviet Eskimo Dancers" sponsored by the Bering Straits Native Corporation, Nome Arts Council and the Bering Sea Women's Group, performed to a standing room only crowd at the Mini Convention Center.

During the last day of the conference, Loretta Bullard, Vice Chair for the Alaska Women's Commission, addressed the many alcohol related problems, of which domestic violence is one of the major concerns in our villages.

At the close of the conference a special Candlelight Ceremony was held in remembrance of those who died as a result of violence, those still living in a violent situation, and in celebration of survivors.

SHISHMAREF TANNERY

Shishmaref's Tannery will open for business during the first week of January 1991! Anytime after November 21, 1990 Shishmaref Tannery will accept skins and furs to be tanned, although the skins and furs will not actually be tanned until the first week of January.

Beginning the week of November 21, Shishmaref Tannery staff will undergo the second phase of 30 days of advance training with Bruce Rittel, Tanning Consultant from Taunton, Massachusetts, for the tanning process for inland animals and fur bearing animals, such as; muskrat, bobcat, coyote, otter, rex rabbit, raccoon, red squirrel, grey fox, unborn alpaca skin and small and medium black bear. Melvin Olanna will donate a polar bear skin for use while training.

During the first stage of training for staff, in 1988, they trained on the actual processing of sealskins (approximately 50 spotted seals, 60 common seals, 1 adult bearded seal, 6 young bearded seals, 1 ribbon seal, and 1 ring seal), 3 bear skins, 2 wolves and 2 wolverines, which were all donated by the village people.

In 1983, the Shishmaref IRA Village Council decided that there was a need for a tannery in this region of Alaska. In 1984 and 1987, Morris Kiyutelluk submitted grants to various agencies, both state and federal for possible start up funds. In 1989 and 1990, Henry Ahgupuk continued to seek funding for the tannery. As a result, the agencies listed below approved funding for the tannery:

- ANA (Administration for Native Americans) for Economic Development, which is a multi-year grant.
- State of Alaska, Department of Community and Regional Affairs - RDA/REDI grant.
- BIA Indian Business Development Grant Program.
- State of Alaska, Department of Commerce Economic Development - Capital Matching Grant Programs.
- State of Alaska - JTPA sub grant contract currently being written with the assistance of Bob Walsh at the Department of Community and Regional Affairs.
- Shishmaref Native Corporation granted the Shishmaref Tannery a loan which is currently being finalized.

Tannery staff include: Henry Ahgupuk, Tannery Manager; Tanners: James Sinnok, Sharon F. Nayokpuk, Jonathan Weyanna Jr., Jimmy Kiyutelluk; ANA project Director, Morris Kiyutelluk; Secretary/Bookkeeper, Sophie Weyiouanna.

LAND & RESOURCE DEPT.

Last summer BSNC had four major mining companies working on 6 mineral exploration and development projects on our lands.

Kennecott Minerals worked on BSNC lands for the first time last summer with a drilling project for tin on Potatoe Mt. near Wales and a regional exploration project for base metals on the Sinuk River near Nome.

Alaska Placer Development, also a new lessee last year, conducted drilling and test pitting for placer gold on Solomon Native Corporation lands.

Tenneco, another new lessee, picked up the Rock Creek lease north of Nome. In addition to detailed studies and drilling at Rock Creek, Tenneco conducted a regional gold exploration project and discovered five new gold bearing regions.

BHP-Utah continued drilling, mapping, and sampling projects at Mt. Distan and Bluff. Also during the 1990 field season BSNC initiated an in-house exploration program.

BSNC received consent to explore lands jointly owned by BSNC and the villages of Brevig Mission, Golovin, King Island, Koyuk, Shaktoolik, Shishmaref, Solomon, Teller, Unalakleet, Wales, White Mountain and Inalik. Work was done on lands of five villages and on most projects, locals were hired from the village.

This preliminary, low cost, in-house exploration will increase the marketability of our lands.

Work was done by BSNC staff this past summer in conjunction with the U.S. Bureau of Mines who paid for travel, room and board, and sample analysis.

An expanded program is planned for 1991 with joint projects with the USBM, the US Geological Survey, and the State Division of Geological and Geophysical Surveys (DGGS).

BSNC and DGGS jointly sponsored a one day seminar on the mineral resources of the Seward Peninsula. Seven representatives from mining companies and governments mapping agencies addressed over 30 participants. Proceedings from the seminar will be published this winter. This meeting was instrumental in generating financial support for field work from government agencies.

The third in a series of Village Land Managers Meetings sponsored by BSNC was held on November 30, 1990. The topics of discussion for this meeting will be resource development policies, antiquities and artifacts, gravel sales, 7 (i) revenue sharing problems, 14 (c) 3 townsites, mining contracts, and trespass.

100 YEARS OF REINDEER IN ALASKA

Sinrock Mary, Emma Willoya, Robert Apok, Chester Seveck and Jimmie Toolie have one thing in common — reindeer herding. These memorable people and others are part of the unique reindeer herding history of the Seward Peninsula.

The year 1991 marks the centennial year for reindeer in Alaska. In 1891 Reverend Sheldon Jackson, who was the General Agent of Education for Alaska, arranged for the experimental shipment of sixteen reindeer from Siberia to islands in the Aleutian Chain. Following the success of that shipment, 171 reindeer were transported by boat from Siberia to the newly created Teller Reindeer Station. Since that time reindeer have naturally increased in numbers throughout Alaska and reached a high of 641,000 in 1932 before a dramatic decline.

Currently there are approximately 25,000 reindeer on the Seward Peninsula, which makes up about two-thirds of the state population of about 37,300 head of reindeer. The Reindeer Herders Association has developed plans to celebrate the centennial year of reindeer in Alaska. Activities planned include an exhibition of archival photographs and items made for or from reindeer. A commemorative day is scheduled for mid-March and will include special speakers, videos and the annual reindeer potluck.

The AFN Convention passed Resolution 90-08 which recognizes the unique contributions and opportunities afforded Alaska Native people by the reindeer industry and joins in commemorating 100 years of reindeer herding in Alaska.
